In Sweden the smallest town pos-a platform or kiosk. In Stockholm there are five or six public gardens where excellent music may be heard in the evening.

Before life is imperiled, deal judiciously with the symptoms. Remember that the slight disorder of to-day may become an obstinate, incurable disease to-morrow. As a preventive medicine, take Simmons' Liver Regulator, which, by its mild and beneficial action on the liver, stomach and spleen, is eminently calculated to assist nature in her efforts to re-establish a healthy condition. It will also remove the cause of disease without any of that prostration which follows the use of drastic purgatives, or any of the injurious effects of mineral poison.
The Armenian question is likely to be

Col. A. Wood Merryweather, whom everybody in Seranton, Pa., knows, writes and says: "I had long suffered from a derangement of the bladder and kidneys; it had made my general health very poor. I also was troubled with severe indigestion; pills gave me only temporary relief, and I experienced great anxiety of mind, as well as physical distress. A friend recommended Brown's Iron Bitters. I have used it with most gratifying results, and just now my health never was better, and I feel that the cure is permanent."

FROM
COL. L. T. FOSTER.
Youngstown, Ohio, May 10, 1898.
DE. R. J. KENDALL & CO., GENTS—I had a very valuable Arabian colt which I priced very highly, he had a very large bone spavin on one joint and a small one on the other which made him very lame. I had him under the charge of two veterinary surgeons, who failed to cure him. I was one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spavin Cure in the Chicago Express, I determined at once to try it and got our druggists here to send for it.
They ordered three bottles. I took them all and thought I would give it a thorough trial.
I used it according to directions and the fourth day the colt ceased to be lame, and the lumps have disappeared. I used but one bottle and the colt is as good as new from lumps and as smooth as any horse in the State. He is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I let two of my neighbors have the remaining two bottles, who are now using it.
Very Respectfully,
L. T. FOSTER.

DE. R. J. KENDALL & CO., GENTS—Please send me a supply of your advertisement for Kendall's Spavin Cure. It has a good sale here and gives the best of satisfaction. Of all we have sold, we have yet to learn the name of the person who has cured a horse of this trouble.
Very Respectfully,
J. Dawson & Son, Druggists.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.
Whitcomb, Iowa, Nov. 23, 1898.
DE. R. J. KENDALL & CO., GENTS—Enclosed please find 25 cents for your valuable advertisement for Kendall's Spavin Cure. I have used your Spavin Cure on one of my horses for bone spavin, the bottle entirely cured the lameness and removed most all the lump.
Yours Respectfully,
Leroy K. Graham.

On Human Flesh.
Paterson, N. J., Nov. 23, 1898.
DE. R. J. KENDALL & CO., GENTS—The particular case on which I used your Spavin Cure was a malignant skin cancer of sixteen months standing. I had it cut out by a surgeon, but it grew again. I used your Spavin Cure on the cancer, and for the first time since I had it cut out, it has entirely disappeared. For a family liniment it exceeds anything I ever used.
Pastor of M. E. Church, Paterson, N. J.

Is such in its effects, mild, in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seated joint or to remove any bony growth or other enlargements of the joints and limbs, or for rheumatism in man, or for any bony growth or other enlargement of the joints and limbs. It is now known to be the best, simplest for man, never used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.
Send address for Illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to any knowledge, for best as well as man.
Price, 25 cents per bottle, or six bottles for $1.50. All

FOURTH AND EDMOND - E
ST. JOSEPH, MO.

If the spirit of the murdered President could look down upon his country-to-day, it would look down upon a people united as they never were before.
It is monstrous to say his death was for the best. The human mind recoils with horror from such preaching. But, if from the wreck of hopes that are crushed and hearts that are broken, any good at all can come, it will be that the people of the whole United States will be drawn nearer together by the ties of common brotherhood and loyalty. It is no unusual thing for feuds to be buried in the grave of some mutually beloved one. Among the dearest hopes of the President, who was struck down by an assassin, was the hope that during his administration the few clouds that yet dimmed the perfect sky between the North and South might wholly vanish away. The kindly feeling he would have striven to bring about in his life can scarcely fail to follow the awful event of his death. Not only his friends in the "dear old State" he loved so well, but in all the States of this great Union, are bowed with a common grief and thrilled with a common sorrow.

The manifestations of sorrowing sympathy which have come in from all parts of the English speaking world, form a very striking phenomenon. The late President's struggle for life seems to have been fought with almost as much interest and anxiety in England as here. The Queen in particular has been most cordial in her expressions of sympathy with Mrs. Garfield, and Mrs.
Garfield's one published response to the Queen's inquiries was strikingly characterized both by good feeling and good taste. It was in its way a model composition, if we may say so of anything written under such circumstances. The way in which the Southern press has shared in the general anxiety and mourning is one of the most gratifying and hopeful incidents of the tragedy, and would, even if it stood alone, go far to warrant the assertion that President Garfield had not died in vain.

The fraternalizing of "the boys in blue" and "gray," at the meeting of the Army of the Cumberland at Chattanooga, was most hearty and complete. If the politicians of the South continue to cultivate the old spirit, the soldiers of the Confederacy do not. Under the spell of the nation's great sorrow there is a disposition to bury the past and take a step forward into a purer atmosphere.
"With malice toward none and charity for all," let the nation join in a fervent amen.

The assassin, Guiteau, is talking as when first in jail about the death of Garfield being a "political necessity" and the "act of the Lord," and he wants a transfer of allegiance, "from that lump of clay," meaning Garfield, when he expects to have sympathy. There should be no delay in trying and hanging this bloody wretch.

The record shows that September 23, 1861, was observed as a day of fasting and prayer, under a proclamation of President Lincoln. Just twenty years later the same day was observed as a day of mourning, fasting and prayer, under the first proclamation of President Arthur.

cates by its cures. We refer to Hop

To be beautiful, buoyant and healthy, the whole female constitution must you propose to do? We have experi-

Good Advice from a Leading Medical Professor.

The learned doctor says: "Keep some kind of a tonic medicine always in the house, and if any one feels unwell, make free use of it. But first be sure that it is both harmless as well as meritorious.
Put no trust in alcoholic preparations; their use will lead to intemperance; neither be partial to any remedy that produces a severe cathartic effect, for prostration of the nervous system and digestive organs is sure to follow. The mildest and best medicine ever invented for strengthening every part of the body and restoring impaired or lost organic functions to their normal condition, and one which is having an unparalleled and rapidly increasing sale in the Eastern States, is Brown's Iron Bitters. Any druggist will procure it for you if you request him to do so, especially when he finds you cannot be persuaded to take some substitute. It does not contain alcohol, and is the only preparation of iron that cures headache and does not blacken the teeth. It is a sure reviver, a true strengthener, and the very best medicine ever invented for permanently strengthening the pulmonary, urinary and digestive organs, and preventing consumption, kidney diseases and chronic dyspepsia, often curing those diseases when all other remedies have failed; for it is truly nature's best assistant."—[Gazette.]
